Product Description

In the high-end hotel industry, especially hotels above five stars, their products no longer represent only the products themselves, but also represent the overall service and high-end quality of life of the hotel. Especially with a high-end and elegant bathrobe, it is a great showcase of the formal hotel level. Among the current five-star hotel bathrobes, microfiber coral fleece bathrobes have gradually become the first choice for everyone, because of their softness, warmth, lightness and elegance, leaving customers with a good experience.

The structural fibers of microfiber coral fleece are very delicate and have a very high density. Each fiber has been thoroughly processed to achieve excellent softness. After bathing, the moment the bed is placed on the body, the body becomes very light and comfortable, completely avoiding the roughness of ordinary towels and bathrobes, instantly increasing the happiness index.

The structure of coral wool loop is very fluffy, which can store and gather a large amount of air, forming a good insulation layer, locking in the body's temperature and providing warmth. At the same time, its water absorption capacity far exceeds that of pure cotton fabric, with a water absorption speed close to more than twice that of ordinary cotton bathrobes, allowing guests to quickly feel refreshed after bathing.

Our microfiber coral fleece is designed strictly according to the requirements of high-end hotels. Adopting a loose cutting method and designing a classic A-line design can effectively protect the privacy of every customer. The fabric is designed with thickening to visually showcase high-end texture, paired with a spacious coral fleece waist belt. The internal stitching is wrapped and reinforced to prevent excess thread ends. A large pocket is designed on the chest or waist for convenient storage of practical items.

Choosing microfiber coral fleece bathrobes for five-star hotels is definitely not wrong.
